SPARKLING VIVONE.

EXTENSIVE as the sale of this beverage now is, the Public at large have a very inadequate idea of its real value. It is signally adapted to the requirements of hospitality and all social celebrations, and, besides being as companionable a refreshment as Tobacco, it gradually but SURELY ARRESTS THE LONGING FOR ALCOHOLIC LIQUORS.

The evidence to this effect is now indisputable.

COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE

TUESDAY EVENING, OCT. 4.

THERE is no change in the market rates of discount in London, nor is there anything to be gathered from Reuter's quotations for securities regarding the tone of the Money market. On the one hand, there is a decline of ⅛ in Consols and 4½ per cent. Rupee Paper, but as against this the 3½ per cent. Indian Loan is ¼ and French Rentes ⅛ per cent. higher.

The Chartered Bank is reported by Reuter to have declared a dividend for the half-year ending 30th June of 3½ per cent., and the Chartered Mercantile of 2½ per cent., carrying at the same time £5,000 to the Reserve. The shares of both institutions have improved in value, the former by £1, and the latter by 10s., per share.

A further rise of 5s. per ton is advised in Wallaroo Copper. In the General Produce markets there is no change of any kind.

Piece-goods in Manchester are quiet but steady, and the Liverpool Cotton market keeps firm, the sales yesterday being estimated at 10,000 bales, of which 800 were Surats. Spot prices show no movement of any kind, but American deliveries are 1-16d. per lb. higher, Mid-Uplands for September-October being quoted at 6 9-16d., and March-April at 6 11-16d. per lb. In New York yesterday ready Mid-Uplands were advanced 1-16 cent, but January shipment was 2 points lower. The receipts to date give the following comparisons :—

	1881.	1880.	1879.
Two days' Receipts	37,000	39,000	37,000
Three days' do.	56,000	71,000	63,000
Total since 1st Sept	478,000	563,000	476,000

The Bank of Bombay return for the week ending on Saturday shows the following changes :—

Public Deposits at Head Office	Inc.	Rs.	151,784
Do. do. Branches.....	Dec.	"	9,740
Other Deposits	Dec.	"	19,91,130
Government Securities	Dec.	"	26,555
Loans	Dec.	"	2,74,742
Bills Discounted	Inc.	"	47,821
Cash with Correspondents	Dec.	"	30,287
Cash and Currency Notes	Dec.	"	17,09,009

The falling off in the Cash Balance is of importance, and had it arisen from other causes, might have been taken as distinctly indicative of dearer money, but being merely withdrawals under the head of deposits, and not arising from any increase in the demand for accommodation, we may safely infer that the movement is only temporary. At the same time the position of the Bank, with Cash only representing 33 per cent. of its outside liabilities, is the reverse of strong, and it will be safer to count on a rise in rates of discount coming before a decline.

EXCHANGE this morning opened firm, but for a time a quieter feeling was apparent, and Bank Bills receded 1-32d. In the course of the afternoon things steadied up a little, and although Bank Bills have not recovered to the opening level, the feeling is again quite firm. We quote at the close :—

Bank Bills on demand	Is. 7 29-32d.	per rupee.
Do. telegraphic.....	Is. 7¾d.	"
Do. 3 months' sight.....	Is. 8 1-32d.	"
Credits, 3 " "	Is. 8 3-16d.	"
Documents, 3 " "	Is. 8 7-32d.	"
France 3 " "	2·13½	"

On Calcutta we quote demand drafts at par, 60 days' sight at one per cent. discount.

GOVERNMENT PAPER has been a shade steadier to-day, although no great extent of business has been done. We quote Fours at Rs. 100⅝ to 15-16 ; Fours-and-a-half at Rs. 110.

SHARES.—The general tendency of the market has been quiet, and with the exception of Spinning and Weaving Companies shares prices as a rule have undergone no change. Mills, however, are all weak, with a decline of Rs. 5 to Rs. 15, and in the case of Dhurumseys there is a drop of Rs. 40.

COTTON for export has been in fair request during the day, both old and new crop, but sellers show little disposition to do business, and we have not heard of a single transaction of any importance.

SEEDS are quiet at previous rates. WHEAT is firm, but transactions are restricted by the high figures prevailing for homeward freight. Arrivals keep about the same scale as for some time past, and although some people are sanguine of a large increase in supplies, there are others who hold to the idea that the expected opening of the pits will add very little to what we are now getting. The point is important, as on it in a great measure hangs the question of the probable extent of business between now and the end of the year. Unfortunately, however, it is very difficult to obtain anything like reliable information of what stocks are held up-country, and we shall have to wait some weeks before a fair idea can be formed.

Freights continue strong, and the nominal quotations are now for Liverpool 45s. to 47s. 6d. for October, 45s. for November, and 42s. 6d. for [illegible]. At these figures, however, the [illegible] tonnage is by no means great, [illegible] appears to prevail that we [illegible] that may be it is [illegible] practically depends on [illegible]. Such, however, can be no doubt that 50s. will [illegible] a large quantity of tonnage, even in holders' [illegible] the American fall trade begins to shrink. A steamer is reported to have been fixed to-day for Marseilles, December loading, at 42s. 6d., and one for next April-May loading at 40s., U. K. or Continent, with concessions.

Proceedings are dull to a degree, and there seems little room for a reaction now unis side of the Diwali.

COALS continue weak, and a November cargo of Davison's is reported to have been sold at Rs. 13, alongside,—a price which discounts a further fall in first cost on the other side, both in coal and freights.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 5, 1881.

THE pen is mightier than the sword. Mr. C. J. O'Donnell, the Bengal civilian who was suddenly "transferred" by Sir Richard Temple to a very remote and, as it happened, a very insalubrious district, just as he was budding into fame as the author of the "Black Pamphlet," has now been "transferred" by Sir Ashley Eden from Jessore to Mymensing while the literary laurels won by the publication of the "Ruin of an Indian Garden" are fresh upon him. We suppose the proper thing to do, under the circumstances, is to felicitate Mr. O'Donnell upon this second tribute to his skill and success as a writer. As he survived his first transfer, he will doubtless survive his second, and be lifted up and strengthened by it. It is not necessary to waste upon this young civilian sympathy which will be more needed by Sir Ashley Eden, if it be true, as the Allahabad paper hints, that the personal resentment felt by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal has hurried His Honour into a course which he will find it very difficult to justify either in India or in England. The disposition of high-placed officials to regard with disfavour, and even with alarm and resentment, symptoms of literary activity on the part of their subordinates, especially when accompanied by independence of thought or of aim, is a malady of comparatively recent growth, and is likely, if permitted to develop, to work serious mischief to the general body of Anglo-Indian administrators by discouraging independence of thought, and every aim beyond that of personal advancement along the official grooves. It is not for the good of the State that it should become a settled rule that mindless pigs should alone be safe from transfer and humiliation, while men indiscreet enough to possess either originality or vigour must make their account of being shunted to Mymensing or elsewhere. We have had within our own Presidency some examples of this tendency, and the Government and the public have lost the services of men whose sole offence was that they were possessed of a certain independence of mind and character. It is about time that public opinion should declare itself freely in regard to displays of short-sighted intolerance of individual opinion and initiative which discredit the higher ranks of the Administration in these latter days.

IT is very much to be hoped that His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief will be able to have a camp-of-exercise during the coming cold season. The value of these gatherings is becoming better understood now, and every Continental nation has its autumn manœuvres regularly every year. For the benefit of those who did not take part in the two camps-of-exercise we have already had in this presidency, we will briefly recapitulate their leading features. It will be remembered that towards the close of 1872 Lord Northbrook, then Governor-General of India, paid Bombay a visit, and spent a few days at Poona, where the usual garrison was largely supplemented by regiments from outstations assembled in honour of his Lordship. Brigade drill was rehearsed, great efforts were made to induce the mounted officers of the various corps to salute with some degree of uniformity, and at length one afternoon the grand parade before the Governor-General took place. The march past was a very brilliant affair, and the manœuvres practised subsequently were not finished when night descended on the scene, and drove every one home to bungalows or tents. But real business did not begin until after Lord Northbrook had left Poona; and then there was a week's manœuvring on the great plains of Hurrupsur, beyond the Gorpoorie Lines. Various formations of attack were tried, and some sham-fights took place ; and then the force broke up. We have called this gathering a camp-of-exercise, a name it hardly deserves, for in reality it was merely a few days of extended manœuvring, on as large a scale as the presence of some regiments from outstations rendered possible. But everything went off so well, that Sir Augustus Spencer, then Commander-in-Chief of the Bombay Army, determined that next year he would have a really good camp, and do everything strictly according to rule. So in the beginning of December, 1873, a goodly force was assembled at Chinchwud, a place admirably adapted for manœuvring large bodies of men, and within half-a-dozen miles of Poona. There were present, beside the Poona garrison, a fair number of regiments ordered from outstations on purpose to take part in the manœuvres, and there were also were about fifteen thousand men of all arms present. The force was divided into two divisions, one commanded by General Grant of the Poona force, the other by General Russell, then commanding the Northern Division of the Bombay Army. These divisions were subdivided into brigades, and the senior colonels of regiments were made acting brigadiers. The camp presented an animated and picturesque scene, the weather was cool and bracing, and everybody seemed in good spirits. The programme was drawn up by Sir Augustus Spencer himself, who was present the whole time with his head-quarter staff. The first week was given up to exact brigade drill, to accustom regiments to work together, and (according to camp gossip) to give the newly-made brigadiers an opportunity of picking up a little drill. The next week brigade was pitted against brigade, and it was voted very good fun, if not very brilliant manœuvring. During the third and last week the two divisions, under their respective commanders, fought against each other ; and during this week Lord Napier of Magdala, then Commander-in-Chief in India, came to see how the camp progressed. In order to give his Lordship a good opportunity of seeing the force he had once commanded at work, one division was sent out to a place called Mohee, about four or five miles from Chinchwud, with orders to fight its way into camp next morning against the other division. This sham-fight was very successful, and Lord Napier was much pleased with the combined steadiness and alacrity of the troops. Next morning came the great march past, which was a sight worth seeing, and which came off without a hitch ; and the high compliment paid to the force by his Lordship was well deserved. In general estimation the 66th Regiment—afterwards equally glorious and unfortunate—was the finest European corps in the camp, the soldiers being a remarkably big, stalwart body of men, bronzed and bearded ; and a very noticeable figure in Lord Napier's staff was Colonel Baigré, in whose untimely death the Bombay Army lost one of its ablest and most accomplished officers. The day after the march past the camp broke up, and the regiments dispersed. The manœuvres had lasted three weeks, and everything had gone off most satisfactorily. The parades had been interesting without being harrassing, and much had been learned by officers and men. When parade was over in the morning, the social life of the camp began, every one having a host of friends. Every one appeared thoroughly to enjoy himself ; and we hope that in the cold season now coming there may be another equally successful camp at Poona. General Hardinge is well known as a student of advanced military tactics, and will probably be glad of an opportunity of manœuvring a large force of men ; while it will be a good thing for as many Bombay regiments as possible to make the acquaintance of their new chief, who is already known to take a great interest in the organization and working of native corps, and to be sincerely anxious to promote their welfare.

THE French are about to march on Kairouan. The Arabs have destroyed a railway station, and massacred the officials. The war in North Africa is steadily spreading and extending, and the approach of the critical moment when more than French and Arabs may be drawn into the fray is becoming plain. It looked as if the moment had come when "the colonels" performed their latest military demonstration around the palace of the Khedive in the Egyptian capital, which is rapidly acquiring the reputation of an Oriental Madrid for the regularity and success of its pronunciamentos. But the clock had not struck the hour just yet, though the two members of the loving "consortium," England and France, eagerly seized the opportunity to have a very significant growl at each other. The day for that reckoning has been adjourned. But the guerilla war in Algeria and Tunis goes on, and grows more serious from day to day. There are one hundred and fifty thousand of the best troops of France on African soil to-day, and of course they must win. But if those Arabs had good guns and plenty of ammunition, it might not be so. With wretched flintlocks, and very often not even with these, how can the fierce riders do more than retreat or die? It is only now that we are told how the Arab horse who followed Bou Amema's leadership on the disastrous day of Chellala, when the Innocenti brigade was routed by the fanatics, won their victory. Not a man in twenty had a gun, not one in five had a lance ; but in every sinewy brown hand was a stout and weighty matraque or club, and with these masses d'armes the Arabs rushed upon the French column, and broke skulls and bodies as with sabre-strokes. The affair was, indeed, a surprise. Colonel Innocenti did not expect his flank to be attacked at that moment, and the long lines of charging Arabs were careering through the ranks and striking left and right before a volley could ring. Besides, some native cavalry accompanying the French force had been driven in by the Arab charge, and had afforded a shelter to the pursuers till the latter were almost at hand-to-hand distance. But nothing can depreciate the valour which the Arabs have exhibited, and it is not to be expected that they will yield easily to any force, however superior. If, indeed, complications were to happen, if Tripoli were to be made the refuge of the retreating tribes, and if Turkey were to be drawn into the struggle, we do not say that France would be certain of victory. There is only one really vulnerable point in the Turkish Empire, and the Russians have found it as often as they forced their way to Constantinople. If France is to go to Constantinople, however, she must go by the Dardanelles ; and in these days of torpedoes the Dardanelles may well be a harder nut to crack than ever. A war on the frontier provinces of Turkey might go on for ever. There is one advantage to the Government of a State which is governed under the best of circumstances as Turkey is governed ; under the worst of circumstances it can hardly be worse off.

The position of French affairs is, for the moment, deplorable. The new military organization has broken down. The health of the troops has broken down. The political calculations which presided over the inception of the campaign have broken down. The calculations of the financiers and stock-jobbers have broken down. The dislocation and confusion in the army, both corps and brigades and regiments, are something beyond description. France prepared for a military promenade, and she has been plunged into a fearfully exhausting war. M. Barthelemy St. Hilaire boasted that the Tunisian expedition had been accomplished "without conquest and without blood." That was said in the beginning of May, and in the beginning of October there has been as yet no conquest indeed, but what rivers of blood, and what expenditure of treasure! And it has been discovered that the new military organization was not fitted for the strain of a sudden war conducted out of the country and beyond sea. The new military organization, like the German army system, contemplates the calling in of successive reserves as the way to form the real fighting force, but there could not be a mobilization, a calling in of the citizens on the Army Lists, for a war against Arabs, just as if the country were in danger and the Prussians marching across the frontier. What would the country say? What would the soldiers of the various classes of the reserve of the active army, and the reserve of the territorial army, say if they were suddenly dragged from their homes and their civil occupations, which it was supposed they were never to quit again except in a war for defence of fatherland? As well talk of despatching the British volunteers to the Crimea. So General Farre had to depend upon nothing but his boy-soldiers and the sprinkling of professional soldiers who, in spite of French short service, are still to be found in the army. Scratch regiments were made up by driblets from all the regiments in the Army List ; and the boy-soldiers did very well till they had too little to eat sometimes, and bad water to drink, and long marches to make in a bad climate. Then they fell ill, and straggled out of the All through the electoral period the Arab resistance was spreading, and every member of the Government knew it, and it was the common cry of the opposition candidates to allege that the Republic was at war with the Tunisians. What could a democratic Cabinet under the circumstances do, except send down positive orders to all the prefects and sub-prefects bidding them at once publish absolute contradictions, on official white placards and by beat of the town drum, of the infam

ALLAHABAD, OCT. 4.

The following paragraph appears in the Pioneer :—"Mr. C. J. O'Donnell, Joint Magistrate of Jessore, has been degraded by the Government of Bengal, and gazetted Assistant Magistrate of Mymensing. This very strong and unusual measure is provoked, we believe, by some quarrels or friction between Mr. O'Donnell and the Magistrate under whom he served at Jessore. Of course Sir Ashley Eden will justify his conduct by some public explanation, and the justification under the peculiar circumstances of the case, and in view of the personal resentment which Sir Ashley Eden may entertain against Mr. O'Donnell in connection with matters quite outside the administration of Jessore, will have to be very complete, in order to avert conclusions which may render the whole transaction more damaging to the Lieutenant-Governor than to the Magistrate."

HEAVY MORTALITY AT AMRITSUR.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

LAHORE, OCT. 4.

Two thousand two hundred and sixty-five persons died at Amritsur during the eleven days ending with the 1st inst. One-half of these were children. The heavy mortality is almost wholly owing to cholraic fever, which still prevails in many towns in the Punjab. Considering that the Amritsur medical and municipal staff is greatly overworked, and that natives are always reluctant to give information of deaths, the foregoing register figures must be below the mark.

A telegram from the Government of India, Home Department, dated the 3rd instant, says :—Cholera prevails in Mecca. Government cannot stop pilgrimage from India, but notify widely fact of disease and warn pilgrims of risks."

The Western India Rifle Association annual meeting commences to-day at Poona and some statesmen in Northern India. There has been a branch meeting in connection with the W. I. R. A. held in Bombay the last three years, but it has been abandoned this year owing to the rule the Council have adopted—to which no called attention when the prospectus was issued—admitting "any military breech-loader using its own ammunition" to compete on equal terms with the Martini-Henry.

SENHOR MEYRELLES DE CANTO E CASTRO, Director of Customs at Goa, is spoken of as the probable successor to the late Portuguese Consul General in Bombay. He was to leave for Portugal, but has postponed his departure, awaiting the decision as to the appointment.

THE plans of the Commander-in-Chief in India are again changed, the Lahore paper states. His Excellency now proposes to leave Simla on the 10th instant, for his tour in the eastern frontier districts.

NEWS from Multan shows that the city still remains quiet. Heliographic communication has been established between the fort and the headquarters of the brigade in cantonments, so that, in the event of renewed disturbances, troops can be summoned without delay.

THE Government of India have requested the Madras Government to name three natives eligible for presenting themselves at the next examination for the Covenanted Civil Service. Only one, however, who will be selected from these by the Supreme Government, will be permitted to compete.

DR. CORNISH, C.I.E. Surgeon-General with the Government of Madras, has submitted to Government the names of Surgeon-Major Hunter Adam, now in charge of the Native Infantry Depôt, Pallaveram, and Surgeon-Major H. King, M.A., Principal of the Madras Medical College, as candidates for promotion to the rank of Brigade Surgeon, to fill up the two vacancies in that grade by the retirement from the service of Brigade Surgeon W. H. Harris and the promotion of Dr. W. Pearl to Deputy Surgeon-General.

THE Madras Times hears that a survey of the whole of the land on which the Bangalore Pettah Railway Extension stands is being made, Government having decided that this should form a part of the Madras Railway Company's system. The land will be handed pro formâ to the company, to avoid any disputes that may arise in the future as to territorial right to it.

BY recommendation of the Commander-in-Chief, the 32nd and 33nd Pioneers are to be localised at Rawalpindi and Mian Mir, the two regiments exchanging stations from time to time, as may appear advisable.

THE impression having got abroad among the landowning classes of the North-West that, at future revisions of settlement, enhanced assessments will be made of lands upon which they have made improvements, it has been officially notified that where masonry wells have been sunk for irrigation purposes, or other permanent improvements made, the assessment will be such that no extra demand will be made from the landholder until he has recovered his outlay, including capital and reasonable interest.

MAJOR PROTHEROE, of the Madras Staff Corps, who has been appointed to officiate for the present Chief Commissioner of the Andamans, was to leave Calcutta for Port Blair, in the Satara, on the 1st instant.

REPORTS in circulation to the effect that Mr. Bazett Colvin is to be re-appointed to the Legislative Council next cold weather, the Pioneer says, "cannot emanate from any trustworthy source of information. No one can affirm positively before hand that the Viceroy will not make any suggested appointment, but no indication has been given of any such intention on his part as that referred to."

KING THEEBAW seems to have taken a strong fancy to Italians. By the mail-steamer which left Calcutta on the 30th of September seven Italians started for Mandalay, vid Rangoon. These gentlemen are to be followed by other five of their countrymen this week.

THE Madras Government lately submitted to the Government of India a scheme for reorganization of their Public Works Department, which, a Madras paper states, has been sanctioned with certain provisos. "There will be several promotions made at once from supervisors to sub-engineers and from overseers to supervisors, and such vacancies as will then exist will be immediately filled up by the appointment of the best of those men who were thrown out of employ during the recent reduction in the department, and others whose names have been registered for appointment, bringing up in this way the strength of the Upper Subordinate Establishment to a total of one hundred and eighty-five. Two clerks are also to be appointed in addition to the present staff of the Public Works Secretariat, as the work will be greatly augmented by the increase of Public Works divisions and projects. The Government of India has refused its sanction to the appointment of Messrs. Ottoman and Ellis as assistant engineers, on the plea that they, not being pure Asiatics, are not natives of India."

THE raiders on the Kohat post, the Pioneer now learns, numbered some thirteen or fourteen Afridis, of whom four or five belonged to the Malik Din Khel, one to another section, and the remainder to the Zukka Khel. "There is no doubt that their leader was the notorious Kumal, who headed the attack upon the 19th Bengal Lancer picquet at Peshawur. But little information has been got from the Afridi who was arrested; he is very reticent regarding the attack. His wound is likely to prove mortal, although he is a strong athletic hillman. It is reported that four of the raiders took the direct road through the Kohat Pass towards Peshawur, and that the remainder retreated by the Ublan Pass into the Bezoti Hills. How the men reached Kohat is not known, but most probably they had been hanging about the cantonment for several days and had made themselves well acquainted with the ground about the quarter-guard of the 3rd Punjab Cavalry before delivering their attack. The prisoner is said to have intimate knowledge of the whole of the cantonment. The raiders must have come and gone through tribes who are supposed to be "friendly," and it might have been presumed that with a good spy and police system the district authorities would have heard something of the presence of these budmashes in the city, and given due warning to the military to be on the alert. The clannishness of all the border tribes is such, however, that even the most "friendly" headmen will connive at raids of this kind, and even give help to the raiders. A bold leader, such as Kumal, will always find a number of daring tribesmen to follow his lead, and we shall, no doubt, soon hear of another night surprise. There is nothing so far to show that the Afridis, or any particular section of them, have combined to give serious trouble on the border, but they are just in the frame of mind now to become aggressive. They are better armed than they have ever been, and do not scruple to boast of the number of breech-loading rifles in their possession. A large force, as we have before said, will be needed to punish them when the Punjab Government decides to take punitive measures against them, but there is no reason why Tirah should not be captured and held with but little loss on our side, if our troops are well handled by the general officers in command."

THE Egyptian Gazette hears from the Abyssinian frontier that Sheikh Arai vod Beiad, chief of the Bahr-el-andawa tribe of Beni Amer, has taken all his tribe into Abyssinian territory and has placed himself under the protection of Balata Gabrou, the general in command of the troops of Ras Alula, Chief of Tigré. The Sheikh was presented with a mantle as a sign of honour and esteem. It appears that the determination of the tribe to migrate was caused by their having to pay taxes both to the Egyptian and to the Abyssinian authorities. A company of Egyptian troops have been sent to the frontier to ask for the peaceful surrender of the fugitives. Balata Gabrou made a raid recently on the Habab tribe, who are Egyptian subjects, and demanded from them one thousand dollars and one hundred oxen. This having been refused, the Abyssinian general, destroyed their huts and killed about fifty persons besides taking a considerable number as prisoners of war, who were conveyed to Tigré.

THE same paper also hears that great dissatisfaction exists among some of the troops in the Soudan, especially among the officers, in reference to a proposed reduction of pay. The officers of one regiment, stationed at Sinheit, even went so far as to threaten to take their soldiers with their arms and ammunition into Abyssinia and to place their services at the disposal of King John. However, thanks to the tact and energy of Basha Effendi Hamed, the officer in command, the difficulty was arranged and no disturbance took place.

"RUFFLER" writes in Vanity Fair :—Mr. Douglas Straight, who in 1879 expatriated himself, to the regret of a large circle of friends here, and to the advantage of the community of Allahabad, is, I am glad to know, very much appreciated where he is. As a judge he is the best on the local Bench, and as a member of society his copious hospitality and unaffected geniality, which are in marked contrast to the measured peckings and pompous dulness of the Bengal civilian magnates, have made him a prime favourite.

NOTICING that there is some talk of reviving the appointment of Minister of Public Works in the Government of India, a writer in Vanity Fair express a hope "that if this scheme goes forward the cardinal mistake will not again be made of shutting up a first-class Engineer officer in a bureau at Simla. Sir Andrew Clarke was wasted by being subjected to that absurd process. Few men could be better suited than he for the special function required by the Government of India—namely, that of a superior and authoritative Inspector-General of Works. Though lacking previous Indian experience, he had gathered large and valuable knowledge of his profession elsewhere, and was in many respects just the man to test with his fresh eye the designs and constructions of the Indian engineers. But instead of being allowed to turn all his matured strength into that productive course, Sir Andrew was bottled up with the other executive members of the Viceroy's Council, so that his special powers and his splendid salary were virtually wasted so far as India is concerned. He knew nothing whatever about Indian administration, but was expected to turn his hand to meddle in it all round ; he knew much about engineering works, but he scarcely got the chance to look at them."

THE Scotch land agitation, the Pall Mall Gazette says, continues to spread, gathering volume and intensity as it advances. Begun in Aberdeenshire, it has now taken practical shape in Kincardineshire, Banffshire, and Ross-shire. In addition to the general determination not to stop short of a complete revision of the land laws, decided Land League symptoms are appearing here and there. Another combination of Aberdeenshire tenantry has refused to pay rent except on terms of considerable abatement ; and in Ross-shire they are posting threatening notices to tenants against paying rent without substantial reductions. Feeling in the North is evidently aroused, and the proverbial obstinacy of the people is not likely to allow the movement to die away in nothing.

THE French papers publish statistics to show that in Prussia the railway authorities annually kill one in every 21½ millions of their passengers and wound one in every 4 millions ; in Belgium, kill one in every 9 millions and wound one in every 2 millions ; in England, kill one in every 5½ millions and wound one in every ½ of a million ; and France, kill one in every two millions and wound one in every ½ million. France stands highest for killing, and England for wounding, while it also ranks second for killing. Roundly speaking, French directors kill five times as many as English, English not quite twice as many as Belgian, and Belgian nearer thrice than twice as many as Prussian, who are much the least fatal of the four. The Pall Mall Gazette asks :—Have State management and slower driving anything to do with these grave differences ?

The following are the names of those whom the Governor visited :—Sardar Rangrao Appa Saheb Purundhare, Rao Bahadur Khanderao Wishwanath Raste, the Ranees of Akulkote, and Sirdar Tulaji Rajoji, also of Akulkote.—Deccan Herald.

ARREST OF A MURDERER OF 1863.—A Hindu named Mahadoo Humunta was arrested upon certain information by the fouzdar of Jewra village in the Poona zilla, and forwarded under police custody to the Commissioner of Police, Bombay. The prisoner is alleged to have murdered one Jiji, woman, at Bombay, on the 26th September, 1863, by stabbing her in the abdomen with a knife, at her house in Wudkagadeo, Mandavie, where they were residing as man and wife. After committing the deed the prisoner is said to have absconded. The woman died from the effects of the injuries she received, at the J. J. Hospital, where, on her death, an inquest was held by Mr. John Connon, then Coroner of Bombay. The prisoner was absent from his village—Jewra—since the murder was committed ; but upon his recently making his appearance there, the relatives of the murdered woman recognized him and gave the necessary information to the fouzdar of the village, and had him arrested. Mahadoo Humunta has been charged before Mr. R. S. Jayaker with the murder of Jiji, woman, on or about the 26th September, 1863, and on the application of Acting Superintendent Raymond, the case has been postponed for hearing to the 10th instant, to enable the police to institute further inquiries into the matter, and to instruct the Public Prosecutor to appear for the prosecution.

HIGH COURT.—OCTOBER 4.

(Before the Hon'ble Sir CHARLES SARGENT.)

AMBAVAROO v. JOOSUB JAMAL AND OTHERS.

MR. WAGLE, instructed by Messrs. Shapurjee and Thakurdas, for the plaintiff, asked for a postponement for three months on the ground that the plaintiff's husband, who filed the suit, was dead, and that the plaintiff had not yet obtained probate of his will. There was no appearance for the defendant ; and the application was granted.

SHUNKER MUDDONJEE v. CUSTOORCHUND ABBJEE AND OTHERS.

MR. DAVUR, instructed by Messrs. Chalk and Walker, appeared for the plaintiff, who claimed Rs. 1,077 on an adjusted account. The claim was proved ; when his Lordship gave a decree for the plaintiff for the amount claimed, with interest and costs.

RUTTONJEE BOMONJEE SHROFF v. RUSTOMJEE BOMONJEE BOTTLEWALLA.

MR. PHEROZSHAW MEHTA, instructed by Mr. J. C. Cama, appeared for the plaintiff. The defendant, who appeared in person, admitted the claim, asking for six months' time and for a reduction of the rate of interest, which, he said, was exorbitant, being 14 per cent. per annum. Mr. Pherozshaw said that this being a suit on a mortgage bond, the defendant would be entitled to six months' time. His Lordship said he had nothing to do with the rate of interest, and gave a decree for the plaintiff for Rs. 12,000, with interest at 14 per cent., and costs. If the amount is not paid within six months, the property is to be sold, and the proceeds will be applied towards satisfaction of the decree.

DYAL KIRPAL AND OTHERS v. DWARKADAS BHAISHANKER.

MR. TAYLOR, instructed by Messrs. Jefferson, Bhaishanker, and Dinshaw, appeared for the plaintiffs, who claimed money on an adjusted account. The defendant, who appeared in person, said he had signed the adjustment in favour of Peter's Kirpal, who was dead, and that he had admitted the debt in his schedule filed in the Insolvency Court. For the plaintiff it was contended that the deceased was brother of the plaintiff, and that they formed part of the members of an undivided Hindu family. His Lordship gave a decree for the plaintiffs for Rs. 2,281, with interest and costs, but without stay of execution, as the debt had been inserted in the defendant's schedule in the name of another person.

JAN MAHOMED HAJEE JOOSUB v. GOREJEE MAHIMA SAGURJEE.

MR. STARLING, instructed by Mr. Macfarlane, appeared for the plaintiff, who claimed Rs. 2,000 for money lent to the defendant. There was no appearance for the defendant. The claim being proved, his Lordship gave a decree for the plaintiff for Rs. 2,000, with interest and costs.

VENOBA SADASHIV v. PANFURANG JEWBA AND OTHERS.

MR. JARDINE, instructed by Mr. Khunderao, appeared for the plaintiff. The defendants, who appeared in person, admitted the claim, and a decree was passed against them for Rs. 1,463, with interest and costs.

MULJEE DOSABHOY v. J. HENDERSON.

MR. LANG, instructed by Messrs. Muljee and Bomonjee, appeared for the plaintiff. There was no appearance for the defendant. The plaintiff, a medical practitioner, advanced to the defendant on the 25th February, 1881, on a promissory note, Rs. 1,000, payable on demand. Some jewellery had been deposited as security. The claim was proved, and his Lordship gave a decree for the plaintiff for Rs. 1,000, with interest and costs, an order being made for the sale of the jewels and for the proceeds of the sale being applied towards satisfaction of the decree.

KISSONDAS NANAKRAM v. RAMDAS RAMNARAYEN AND OTHERS.

MR. VICAJEE, instructed by Messrs. Tyabjee and Dayabhoy, appeared for the plaintiff, who claimed money on an adjusted account. The claim being proved, the court gave a decree for the plaintiff for Rs. 17,175, with interest and costs.

ALLEGED BRIBES GIVEN TO MR. NUSSERWANJEE ARDASIR WADIA.

CHARLES AGNEW TURNER v. NUSSERWANJEE ARDASIR WADIA.

THE hearing of this suit was continued to-day. It was brought by the official liquidator of the East India Bank, in order to have the defendant make a full discovery of all the moneys, securities and advantages obtained by him from Cassumbhoy Dharamsey, one of the first liquidators of the bank, as a consideration for not prosecuting the petition filed by defendant in his own name or in the names of other parties ; to pay to plaintiff all moneys so received by him, with interest ; also to pay to plaintiff the sum of Rs. 50,000, received by him (defendant) from Kessowjee Naik, and to hand over to plaintiff 100 shares of the Mazagon Company, or to pay their then market value, with interest ; and also to pay to plaintiff the sum of Rs. 9,000, received by him (defendant) from the late liquidators of the bank. Mr. Inverarity and Mr. Jardine, instructed by Mr. Sayani, appeared for the plaintiff ; and the Advocate-General and Mr. Lang, instructed by Messrs. Hearn, Cleveland, and Little, for the defendant.

Mr. Ardasir Byramjee Kapadia's examination was continued by the Advocate-General. He said among other things.—After seeing the affidavit of Dharsey Hemraj I went and asked Nursey Kessowjee if there was any truth in the affidavit ; and he said there was not. Mr. Pigot, who was my counsel for Kessowjee Naik, was asked by his Lordship the same question in court, and he also said there was not. After the court's order was made we declined to give much time either to Kessowjee Naik or Cassumbhoy, and took out execution against both. We ourselves had not the information required to answer Kessowjee Naik's affidavit, and we were obliged to go to the defendants.

Cross-examined by Mr. Inverarity.—I and the other liquidator of the bank were recently removed. The Chief Justice, in his judgment, said something to the effect that the liquidators were the hands of the defendant. They were called upon to account for moneys which the present plaintiff said had been misappropriated by them. The Chief Justice found that I was at fault. I have no feeling or ill-will towards Mr. Turner, the plaintiff ; but I have towards those who put Mr. Turner in motion. When I called upon the defendant for an explanation, he admitted having received from Kessowjee either Rs. 50,000 or Rs. 1,00,000, I don't remember which. I don't remember his admitting that he had received any shares. I had confidence in the defendant. If I had known that the defendant had receive'd any moneys from Kessowjee Naik to favour the compromise with him, I should not have gone to the court at all to get the compromise sanctioned. The defendant was present at my office while the matter of the compromise was being discussed. The discussion was on the point whether it was a fair compromise to take before the court or not. We came to the conclusion that it was a fair compromise. The defendant said it was fair. He knew more than we about the affairs of the compromise ; but all his facts being placed before me, I thought I was as competent to judge about them as he was. We were in the same position to judge as he was. In the sense that he knew more about Kessowjee Naik's pecuniary affairs than we did, we attached some weight to his opinion. He seemed to entertain the opinion that Kessowjee Naik was not so wealthy as he was supposed to be. I don't recollect now what was discussed by this defendant at the meeting. I simply took the matter before the court. (Is shown a bill of costs with regard to conferences between the defendant and the bank's solicitors.) I cannot say whether the defendant went to confer with the bank's solicitors with our permission on any particular date. The solicitors knew that the defendant was managing the matters of the suit and the summonses on our behalf. If I knew that the opposition had been bought off, I would not have allowed him to confer with our solicitors. He did not tell me that Kessowjee had asked him to assist him in the matter of the compromise. He did not tell me that on the occasions he was conferring with the bank's solicitors in the matter of the compromise, he was acting on behalf of Kessowjee Naik. If he conferred with our solicitors at the time of the compromise, he did so behind our backs. I did not know that he had conferred at the meetings of the 12th and 13th November, 1877. I hear it for the first time to-day. With regard to other items in the bill of costs as to conferences, I say he must have conferred with our solicitors without our knowledge. To-day is the first time I hear of it. I had no means of testing the accuracy of the items when I paid the bill of costs. We relied upon Messrs. Hearn, Cleveland, and Little. A reduction was made in the amount of the bill.

Mr. Inverarity said that Rs. 1,000 had been knocked off from a bill for Rs. 10,700.

Witness continued.—I borrowed money of the defendant. We were never very cordial friends at any time. I know the defendant went to Ahmedbhoy's house to request him not to oppose the compromise with Kessowjee Naik. We wrote a letter to Ahmedbhoy, agreeing to withdraw the suit against him. I cannot say whether I knew that defendant was anxious that Ahmedbhoy should not oppose the compromise. I cannot answer whether Hormusjee Sakhatwalla told me that he and the defendant and others had been to Ahmedbhoy's that morning, to request him not to oppose.

Mr. Inverarity.—Why did you care that Ahmedbhoy should oppose ?

Witness.—We were indifferent, but we wrote that letter because we had no case against Ahmedbhoy. I cannot swear whether it was the defendant's influence which made us write that letter. I admit it was a foolish thing to do. This is the brief for the liquidators with instructions to counsel when the sanction was submitted to the court. (Is showed that the liquidators were at that date anxious to proceed against Ahmedbhoy. The brief is put in.) I was present in chambers when the compromise was being discussed. I don't remember the liquidators' counsel saying that the proceedings were a release of the claims only against Kessowjee and Cassumbhoy, and not against all the parties. It follows from this letter (put in) that our solicitors were not aware of the promise we had made to Ahmedbhoy until the 25th February. Our solicitors in April asked us for instructions in the matter. Assuming that the letters refer to the claim against Ahmedbhoy, I cannot explain why we did not inform our solicitors of the promise we had made to Ahmedbhoy. If the defendant had admitted the truth of Dharsey Hemraj's affidavit, we would have made further inquiries, and the compromise would have been at an end. If Kessowjee paid Rs. 90,000 to the defendant for the compromise, and Rs. 1,00,000 to the bank, I should have thought that the whole sum of Rs. 1,90,000 should have come to the bank. Why should the defendant get Rs. 90,000 ? When Mr. Macfarlane in July, 1878, wrote on behalf of Kessowjee Naik to Messrs. Hearn, Cleveland, and Little, disclosing that moneys had been paid to the defendant, the letter was shown me by Mr. Cleveland's clerk. It did not strike me as strange that the letter was shown me. I cannot account for its being shown me. It was the talk of the town at the time that the letter had been written. I did not consult our solicitors in the matter. I asked the defendant, who admitted the receipt of the money. I cannot remember the amount ; but he said it had nothing to do with the East India Bank, and that the letter had been written merely to annoy him on account of the China suit to which he was a party. On the 28th February, 1878, I was appointed a liquidator of the Mazagon Company. It did not strike me to look if it was true that 100 shares of the company had been transferred to the names of the defendant's two sons. It was four days after the compromise was sanctioned. The charges made against me were that I had been in the hands of the defendant and had participated in the moneys he received.

The court then adjourned.

(Before the Hon'ble Mr. Justice BAYLEY.)

DISPUTES UNDER WILLS.

IN THE MATTER OF THE PETITION OF NICHOLAS DE GA AND OTHERS.

THE Advocate-General, instructed by Messrs. Andercheer and Hormusjee, appeared for the petitioner ; Mr. Inverarity, instructed by the same solicitors, for Maria Thereza de Lima ; Mr. Starling, instructed by Messrs. Tobin and Roughton, for Mrs. M. P. de Souza Franklin ; and Mr. Lang, instructed by Messrs. Prescot and Winter, for Mrs. R. de Gama and E. F. Soares. The petition come on for judgment to-day.

His Lordship, in delivering judgment, said the petition was presented by Mr. Nicholas de Ga, under the Trustees' and Mortgagees' Powers Act of 1863. It appeared from the petition that Mr. Anthony George de Ga made a will on the 24th January, 1871, by which he vested in his eldest surviving brother at the time of his death and in his wife, jointly, certain properties, which were never to be sold. The rents of the properties were to be received by them during their lifetime, and after their death by their heirs. Out of the rents it was directed that Rs. 200 should be paid to the testator's mother monthly, and the balance, keeping always aside a good reserve fund for repairs of the properties, should be divided monthly in equal proportions between the testator's wife and his unmarried sisters. Anthony de Ga died of poison administered to him, on the 15th November, 1872, at his residence in Grant-road. He left behind him his mother, his wife, Leopoldina de Ga, three brothers, Michael Angelo de Ga, who for many years had disappeared from Bombay, Nicholas de Ga, the petitioner, and John de Ga, then now at Calcutta, at the time of his death the testator had also four sisters, one of whom was married. Those that were unmarried at the time of the testator's death, and consequently at the time of his making the will, had all been since married. In 1873 Leopoldina de Ga filed a suit against Michael de Ga, praying that he might be removed from the office of trustee and another appointed in his place ; and eventually, by a decree in the present petit

Mr. Jacob's valuation statement. In spite of doubts expressed in my letters I trusted to defendant's assurances and gave him Rs. 8,000 to invest in jewellery. Mr. Jacob never submitted a statement showing purchases and re-sales at Delhi. He wrote from time to time showing what profit he made. I have simply his word regarding purchases and sales. He never asked me to inspect his account books. I hold Mr. Jacob responsible for the valuation he put upon the jewels, because I feel certain that, as an experienced jeweller and lapidary, he knowingly and falsely over-valued the articles he sold to me. I claim £800 because he knowingly misrepresented the value of the jewels.

By Mr. Rattigan :—I never asked Mr. Jacob from whom he purchased, or to whom he sold, nor have I ever asked to see his books. I fully trusted him.

The case was then adjourned to the following morning.—Pioneer.

THE MOOLTAN RIOTS.

(FROM A CORRERPONDENT.)

FEELING that your readers, who have hitherto received but the necessarily curt intelligence contained in your telegrams, would be interested with an account from an eye-witness of the recent disturbances at Mooltan, I will endeavour to describe the occurrence of the last few days. On Tuesday, September 20th, the inhabitants of the busy, old Mooltan, were startled by the announcement that, owing to a difference of opinion between the Hindoo and Mussulman inhabitants, a serious riot was taking place in the city, and that the civil authorities, finding the Police force at their disposal was totally inadequate to meet the emergency, had applied to the Brigadier to send out all available troops without delay. If any doubts at first arose in our minds as to the accuracy of this alarming intelligence, they were at once dispelled on looking towards the city, from the vicinity of which several dense columns of smoke were to be seen slowly ascending.

As the causes which led to the disturbance must be well-known to the majority of your readers, I will not dilate upon them, suffice it to say that the immediate cause of the riot was owing to an attempt on the part of the Mahomedans to bring their beef into city through the Hindoo quarter. Early on Tuesday morning a party of butchers, escorted by police, were attacked by Hindoos while passing through the chowk bazaar. Each party being quickly joined by numerous adherents, a general scrimmage took place, which assumed such large proportions that in a few moments the whole city was in a state of uproar. Numerous mosques and hundreds of shops were wrecked and pillaged, and in many instances set fire to; and in every street the conflicting parties, armed with sticks, brickbats, or any weapons they could lay hands on, were fighting with a fury which can only be described as fanatical. The Deputy Commissioner, Mr. C. A. Roe, had by this time arrived on the scene, and endeavoured by his presence to overawe the fury of the mob; but the populace assumed such a defiant attitude, and had now become so infuriated, that words were found to be of no avail. It was at this juncture that application was made to the Brigadier for immediate assistance. In the meantime Lieut. Little, commanding the detachment of Connaught Rangers at Fort Mooltan, on being applied to, turned out promptly every available man, and it was at once evident that their arrival had at last produced a considerable moral effect on the rioters.

Information was received at about 10 o'clock at the head-quarters of the Brigade, which was got under arms with a promptitude which reflects much credit on all concerned, and arrived under the walls of the city, a distance of over two miles from the cantonments, by 11-15 a. m. The Brigade, under command of Brigadier General Blair, consisted of half a battery of Artillery under Lieutenant Dale, half battalion of the Connaught Rangers under Captain Manu, two Squadrons of the 15th Bengal Cavalry under Colonel Vibart, and half battalion of the 24th P. N. I. under Lieutenant Ramsay. It was disposed of as follows :—the half battery took up a position in the Civil Gardens, the seven gates of the city were held by guards furnished by the Connaught Rangers, the remainder of the Infantry and a portion of the Cavalry proceeded to clear the streets, while the rest of the Cavalry patrolled round the outskirts of the city. The streets now presented a strange spectacle: broken pottery, smouldering embers, scraps of religious books which had been abstracted from the mosques and torn to pieces, together with various articles of merchandise wantonly destroyed by the pillagers, lay trampled under foot in all directions. Wounded men were being carried frequently to and fro, parties of police, escorted by the military, were making numerous arrests, and the occasional sound of a crash, as the roof of some burning temple or house gave way: all contributed to form a pitiable scene of ruin and desolation. After the arrival of the troops the disturbance gradually subsided, and in a few hours part of the troops were withdrawn, a sufficient force being detained to furnish guards at all the gates, Cavalry and Infantry patrols, and a strong reserve in case of the renewal of the disturbance, which fortunately, however, with some trifling exceptions, did not take place.

Despite all rumours to the contrary, I can state on good authority that no deaths actually occurred from the rioting, but there was a long list of disabled. The exact number it is difficult to ascertain, the applications at the dispensary being the only guide for giving approximately the number of wounded, but I can confidently say that it falls very little short of a hundred. The amount of damage done is roughly estimated at from two and a half to four lakhs, besides 2½ lakhs said to have been looted.

On the 24th, confidence being somewhat restored a reduction was made in the number of troops in the city; and on the 27th a reinforcement of 150 policemen having arrived, and no further outbreak having taken place, a further reduction was made, so that now (September 28th) fifty Europeans only remain within the walls.

The city, having now been cleared of the debris, and the shops having been reopened, the streets are now beginning to present their normal appearance; and if the authorities act with firmness and discretion, there is every reason to anticipate a speedy termination to trouble which might otherwise have ended disastrously.—Pioneer.

MR. GRANT-DUFF'S FAREWELL TO HIS CONSTITUENTS.

THE Right Hon. M. E. Grant-Duff, Governor of Madras, received, on September 9th, the freedom of the Royal burgh of Banff. In the evening the right hon. gentleman addressed the electors of the burgh in the Council Chamber.

Mr. Grant-Duff commenced by stating that he had come to bid good-bye to the constituency which had testified by so many re-elections their approval of his services during twenty-four years. He then went on to review the position in which the country seemed to him to find itself at that moment. Beginning with the House of Lords and its action on the Irish Land Bill, he said that of all subjects in the world for that House to select for a battle with the representatives of the people a landlord question was the very worst. Common sense happily at last prevailed, and the House was soon in its ancient state, in which he hoped it would, with some obvious improvements, long continue. But it could not possibly continue unless the House of Lords remembered that it was living in a changed world, and that its function was not, as some bad advisers told it, to curb representative Democracy by insisting on an appeal to pure Democracy as often as the humour seized it, but in a friendly and ungrudging spirit to assist representative Democracy in the task of making good laws and managing the affairs of the Empire. To the suggestions of the House of Lords the country always listened with respect, but for its mere whipped-up votes [illegible] country cared very little. The House of [illegible] and its energies paralysed by an absurd [illegible] mons and if the constituencies would aid [illegible] of rules, no remedy that state of things he [illegible] Government Parliament would be as fruitless [illegible] and no doubt this country as the elected Par[illegible]t in blessings to the e a sin and a shame [illegible]iament 1868. It would bility of the House [illegible] if the unusual powers and trusted at a time [illegible] of Commons were allowed to [illegible] our hands as [illegible] which we could ill afford to fold be land [illegible] and sleep. If they did not speedily put result [illegible] laws on a more satisfactory footing, the Pa[illegible] would be a more heavy blow to what was, [illegible]or all, the oldest and greatest of our industries. The right hon. gentleman, referring to colonial affairs—the department with which he had been recently more immediately connected—said with regard to some of the colonies there was habitually a notion in the public mind that they were less prosperous than they actually were. As a rule the Crown colonies governed from home were doing well. If you want, the right hon. gentleman went on to say, to have an example of a Crown colony which no good government from home, unless aided by constant contributions from John Bull, will make [illegible]ven decently prosperous, you may look for a [illegible]ment at that wretched Cyprus. England laughed [illegible]rus all through the last election; but, alas, [illegible]did not then at all realise what a wolf she [illegible]the cars in that island. You know [illegible]ed over to the Colonial Office [illegible]ear, so that I have had to occupy [illegible]self a good deal with its affairs, and should just like to state one or two facts [illegible]h are not as generally known as they [illegible] to be. We found that Cyprus was, not to [illegible]atters, quite unable to make ends meet if [illegible] did not come to the rescue. If we had [illegible]crushing tribute to the Porte we could [illegible] asking for British aid to make a [illegible]of it, say a pretty good West [illegible] of its own resources; but as it [illegible] question, however much we [illegible]s and control public works. [illegible] doing and will do all [illegible]aditure; but no reduc[illegible]ntry would not like [illegible]ponible for it, on [illegible] we apply in [illegible]ative courts, [illegible]ety to life [illegible] educa[illegible] press[illegible]tter [illegible]
